1.1. PLAN APPROACH

1.1.1. The State Government feels that strategy for development has to take into account the needs of the people and the State, its strengths, resources and weaknesses. The aim of developmental planning is to provide a direction to the development policies and programmes, make the people aware of these programmes and involve them in the process of development of the State.

1.1.2. Keeping this in view, the State Planning Board was reconstituted in the year 1998 with a view to give a new direction to development policies and programmes and provide the people an opportunity to involve themselves in the process of development. The reconstituted Board had representatives from different walks of life and varied professions so that the State could draw on their experience and expertise.

1.1.3. The reconstituted State Planning Board, in its very first meeting, formed four sub-committees on the Primary, Secondary and Tertiary sectors as well as on the Tribal Welfare. These Sub-Committees submitted their reports after identifying the problems in development in the respective areas and suggesting measures to be taken for ensuring quick development. A document, ‘Approach to People’s Plan in Tripura’ was prepared on the basis of the recommendations of these Sub-Committees.
